SAVAGE ANIMAL CAUGHT

Blondish Books of a Visions Colored Man-Murdering, Burning and Macking People Right and Left-A Bad Man.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 13.—Two negroes named Harrison Thomas and Charles Bal-ford obtained employment near Appalachicola, Florida, as choppers in the lum-ber camp of Jesse E. Boynton. Boynton left the camp for a few days, and when he returned Belford was missing. Thomas professed ignorance as to his whereabouts, but when a few weeks ago a bleached skeleton was discovered in a small pond near the camp, and it was identified as that of Balford, Thomas' missing compasion, Thomas confessed that he dealt Belford a blow on the back of the head with an ax nearly cleaving his skull in twain, and then hitched a yoke of oxen to the murdered man's bleeding body and dragged him to the pond far hiding.

The two men had married sisters, and

Thomas thought if he killed his brother-inaw both women would live with him. His trial for murder has just been coacluded, and resulted in his being sentenced for life Farrow first Saturday and list Monday, same months.

When his mother returned and inquired after the child, the young murderer pointed to the sickening and orderiferous sight in the fireplace and said: 'There is the d— He bothered me and I killed him and threw him into the fire." The mother faiated, but parental love saved the criminal by her hiding the crime.

Is 1871 Thomas assaulted a mulatto girl of fourteen's years, and, after cutting her throat with a large bladed knife buried her body woods, where it remained secreted until two years later, when some woodsmen came across the monad, and, oa digging it np, found the girl's cruaibling remains. In 1823 Thomas killed E. Damson, another colored man, with a knife, and narrowly escaped hanging for the crime. He was arrested and tried, but through the shrewdaeds of his lawyer was acquitted by the jury, many of whom were negroes influenced by race prejudice. In 1878 he chopped off a man's arm, and though the victim is still living, Thomas escaped punishment. For the murder of Balford the completion of his sentence is very doubtful, for a visit from Judge Lynch would not be surprising in view of the unfavorable comments made on the sea-

Agricultural Statistics. WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—The November report of the Agricultural Department gives the local yield per acre. In October the final report of the condition of corn which averaged 78, was interpreted to mean a product close to sixteen hundred million bushels. The average yield per acre appears to be twenty tenth bushels, one and a half bushels per acre lower than the rield of 1832. This gives a result practically identical with that of October. On, the acreage, reported in July, sixty-eight and three-tenth millions, the exact figures would be fifteen hundred and coverey-coven million bushels. In the revision of the season's returns the results will not be materially changed. The product will, therefore, be about 40,000,000 bushels short of the previous crop, notwithstanding the increase of area. This is the third in succession below an average yield, following six successive crops, about an average yield of twenty-six bushels per acre. The yield of the corn surplus, states are as follows:

Obio, 28 bushels per acre; Indiana, 27;
Illinois, 26; Iowa, 24 3-10; Missouri, 27 5-20; Kansus, 86 7-10; Nebraska, 86 busbels. The best quality and largest yield of thorseasons are in the Missouri Valley. In the Middle States, New York, averages 22; New Jersey 23; and Penna, 28 5-10 bushels. In the Southern States, Maryland averages. 23 5-20 bushels; Virginia, 14; North Carolina, 12; South Carolina, 9; Georgia, 9; Maryland, 8 5-10; Alabama, 11 5-10; Massissippi, 13 5-10; Louislana, 14 2-10; Texas, 17 5-10; e, 20 bushels. The quality of the erop in the frosted belt is very poor. The quantity reported to 60 8-10 bushels, in Mirroscota; 21 5-10, in Wisconsin; 23 5-10, in Michigan. The potato crop is larger, as fore reported, amounting to 175,000,

FOUL IN THE WOODS.

A Sister of Dr. Tanner, the Paster, Dies From Exposure.

MONTHEAT, Canada, Nov. 13. - Miss Mary Tanner, a demented woman, was found in the woods near Rockton last Friday. She was nearly dead from hunger and exposure. Being unable to stand error, she was conveyed to the house of a Mr. Charliss, where she died during the afternoon. The woman, who was about thirty years of age, claimed to be a sister of Dr. Tanner, the American faster. She lived, around the county in a gypsy sort of, way, wandering from house to house and sometimes spending days and weeks in the woods or in old deserted outbuildings. She was the count of no little uneasiness to those in the neighborhood of her hauats, and last winter, when she was found nearly hurned to death fa a deserted house, the Rockton authori-tles took prompt action and had her sent to jail as a demented vagrant dangarous to be at large. The papers in her case were duly made out and subscribed to, but the official in Hamilton, after keeping her a short time, considered her too much trouble, and turned her out into the world without warning to those who were responsible for sending her there. The poor, half-crazed creature wandered into the woods near Rockton, where she lived like a beast of the field until death came to her relief.

Miss Tanner had been highly educated. Her home was presumed to be in Michigan. She spoke eight different languages and once entered a house in Hamilton and surprised the occupants by her performance on the piaco. She was constantly talking about a former sweetheart who had committed suicide.

Queer Mummery About Diverces. New York, Nov. 13.—Considerable excitement has been created among the Jow-lish residents of this city by the publication of a despatch from Troy announcing that a young Rollah Jew in that city proposed to remarry on the strength of a divorce granted by some Jowlsh tribunal. A prominent Hebrew member of the Bar said that undoubtedly divorces were granted among the Russo-Polish Jews throughout the United States, and that instances are frequent in the city of New York. In fact, these people would not reniarry without first obtaining such a religious divorce, er. "Get," as it is called among them. These people consider a divorce from the State courts insufficient, and unless supplemented by a ',Get," would consider it bigamy to remark. The validity of these "Gets," or religious divorces, has never yet been tested by our State courts, or any other civil tribunal ia this country. In his opinion the "Get" would be disregarded and considered null and void, as being in conflict with the clearly expressed statutes of the various States of the Union. A singular feature in the proceeding for obtaining these "Gets" is that only the testimony of the party applying for the divorce is considered necessary. In Suffolk street there is a dispenser, or "Rof," who does quite a husiness in this line. His charge for grauting these "Gets" is measured by the length of the purse of the applicant. The charge may be $5 and may come as high as $25.

Fred and the Old Men

BERLIN, Nov. 13.-1t is asserted in diplonatic circles that the Emperor William revented the Crown Prince Frederick from being present at the uaveiling of the statue of Martin Luther at Eisteben, and that the reason for the same was the fear that the Prince might disavow the Orthodox party and cause trouble at the next meeting of the Reichstag. It is said also that the Emperor's order did not arouse the suspicions of the Orthodox party, and, to mollify the Prince, conceived the idea of the latter visiting Spain, which was used as a pretext for the non-appearance of the Priace at Eisteben.

HATING THE HEBREWS.

THE RUMPUS RAGING IN LONDON.

The Reverend Dr. Stocker Still Determined to Speak His Piecs which = At Camer in Great Social Commetion.

LONDON, Nov. 13,-Lord Mayor Fowler has not, as announced, prohibited the anti-Bemetic lecture, which has been arranged to be delivered at the Mansion House by the Rev. Dr. Stocker. Despite all the pro-tests and threats made against the reverend Hebrew hater, he means to deliver his lectures. The Lord Mayor, who had given Dr. Stocker permission to use the Civic Building, found himself becoming odious as a supporter of the proteined crusade against the Hebrews, and desiring to retreat from his unenviable position, requested to be released from his promise. Dr. Stocker was disgusted at what he described as the Lord Mayor's lack of firmness. He at once canceled his engagements at the Mansion House, and straightway sought out Lord Shaftesbury, and prayed him to grace the anti-Hebrew movement by the use of his name as a promoter. Lord Shaftesbury at once consented and placed Exeter Hall in the Strand at Dr. Stocker's disposal, and the lectures are now advertised to be given at Exeter Hall, the first to be delivered to-morrow evening. Lord Shaftesbury has promised to preside. The conduct of Lord Shaftesbury in thus publicly placing himself at the head of a novement so unpopular that the Lord Mayor selt compelled to desert it, has latea-sfiled the public indignation against Dr. Stocker. To-day a great petition signed by prominent Hebrews and Christians was primated to Lord Shaftenbury, asking him to abandon the movement and disallow the use of Exeter Hall to the Doctor, whom the petition describes as "the prime cause of the persecuting spirit which has burst forth like a flood against God's ancient people throughout Earope," and it further says that "npon his head lies the blood of many ingocout children of Israel."

THE OIL FLURRY.

Some Excitement by a Compileation of Events in Philadelphia,

PEILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—There is considerable excitement in this city over the failure of six mining brokers who have been speculating in petroleum and lard. The failures were brought about by the inability of Frederick Scheulerman to meet his contracts for selling 16,000 barels of oil and caused the suspension of David Cook, W. E. Hadley, A. I. Smith, Watson & Twining, and J. W. Hoffman Leading oil operators, state that the parties named are miling brokers, not one of them being engaged in the oil business. From statements made it seems that when the Petrolenm Exchange was organized it was thought desirable to obtain quarters in tha Merchants' Exchange, and an arrangement was made with the Mining Exchange by which the two exchanges, could jointly oc-cupy a room. This threw the members of the two erganizations together, and oil men say some of the mining operators began to dabble in oil. Those who failed, according to representations, bought short and had ao bank account to meet their obligations.

The Proposed Change of Time. WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 -Attorney General Brewster replying to a letter from Secretary Chandler, says that there is grave objection to the proposed change of standard time in this city. He holds that the change can not properly be effected by an Executive order, but must be sanctioned by Congress. Coagress, in making itobligatory upon the heads of Departments and Bureaus, to require a fixed number of hours of daily labor, made their calculations on time reckoned from the meridian of Washington, and to make any alteration or changes of any kind in these hours, as the proposed change of time will do, would, he claims, be interfering with the prerogatives of Congress. This question was re-ferred to the heads of the different Departments and to the District Commissioners. These officers have replied that they see no erious objection to the adoption of the 75th Meridean of the Standard of time. The The Attorney General, so far, is the only official who objects to the change, but his objection, coming as it does from the highest legal officer of the land, will probably postpone the settlement of the matter uutll after Congress meets.

The importers have been mixing the two together, and the appraisers have been deceived into admitting the iron under 30 per cent. ad valorem rate. After its arrival in Pittsburg it would be repucked and shipped to the west. Il is said that thousauds of tons have been brought into the country by this evasion, much to the injury of the sheet iron mills in l'ittshurg and elsewhere."

THE FEMALE FORM DIVINE.

The Figure of the Young Girl and How It Assumes a Mature Look.

Given a small, straight, flat figure, remarks Clara Bell, with a face delicate in Its features, and the problem of making a girl look like fifteen until she is altogether past her teens is not exceedingly difficuit. It can be very simply worked by refusing to let her petticoats grow to a mature length, eschewing all devices of bodice that produce artificial undulation, and enjoining an innocent simpliclty of carriage and manner. That was what had been done with the bride whom I have mentioned. There was in her family the usual luceutive for thus retarding her apparent growth from childhood to womanhood. The older sisters wished to matrimonially place themselves before their ages were emphasized by the youngest daughter becoming an adult. Why, I remember that one evening at a reception, the dear girl came down to the parlor in a lovely costume of white tulie, as simple and infantile as a christening robe, and with a hem no lower than the tops of her high boots; but she had presumed to give a slight roundness to her corsage. That was an amendment to the family resointion which was instantly voted down, though she pleaded hard to carry it. "I'm a womau, and I want to look like one," she pleaded.

"You may be a woman, but you've got to look like a child as long as muture will let you," was the maternal mandale. So she had to go back to her room at d flatten the bosom in which ludignation was swelling.

"I'll develop all of a sudden, the first thing they know—see if I don't," she said to me on that occasion. And she did it on her wedding day, for certain. The dignified little creature who dragged a train up the center aisle of a fashionable church was no longer childish. Her bahyish braids of hair had become an elaborate colffure; tle ankles were out of sight, and, instead of her stockinged display, there was a charming disclosure of bare arms that were far more piump and tapering than anybody had expected, and as fair as eighteen years' seclusion could make them; her bodice, for the first time, was shapely—by exactly what means is none of the public's business Improved?

Sad Death of a Highly Respectable

CINCINEATI, Nov. 13.—Miss Lizzie Eppens, twenty-three, a highly educated and respectable young lady of Corryville, ended her life by drowning herself in a pond near her home, early this morning. She has been a school teacher in the Corryville district school for two or three years past, and boarded with her parents on Highland avenue. For the last two or three days she complained of headache, and did not go to school yesterday morning. About 4 A. M. to-day she arose from her bed, went to the pond, cast herself in, and drowned. Soon after she was missed by her parents, who, upon search, found a note, which, among other things, stated where her body could be found. Search was immediately instituted, and at six the corpse was re-covered and taken home. No reason has yet been discovered for the rash act. The Coroner was notified,

Like an Evil Spirit.

In olden times it was thought that exil spirits came in through cracks and keyholes. The generally approved way to keep them out was to plug up the keyholes and stop the cracks with cotton. Notwithstanding these preventive measures, the evil things had their own way and often came in as they pleased.

So comes malaria now-a-days. We try to keep it out of the keyhole and it comes in by the crack. We stop up the crack, and lo leit comes from a leak in the plumbing, or an opening from some neglected drain, on from some impuspected source and unguarded direction.

We cannot always keep malaria out, but we can give it battle and drive its effects from our systems. If brown's brown is taken in time, malaria has not a ghort of a chance. This is the great family medicine. Your druggist sells it, and you ought to keep a bottle in the house.
